

We are a consulting firm specializing in operationalizing bespoke business capabilities; transforming intuitive, creative solutions into easily applicable components. We provide a map for organizations like you to consistently incorporate new capabilities in your organization.

About

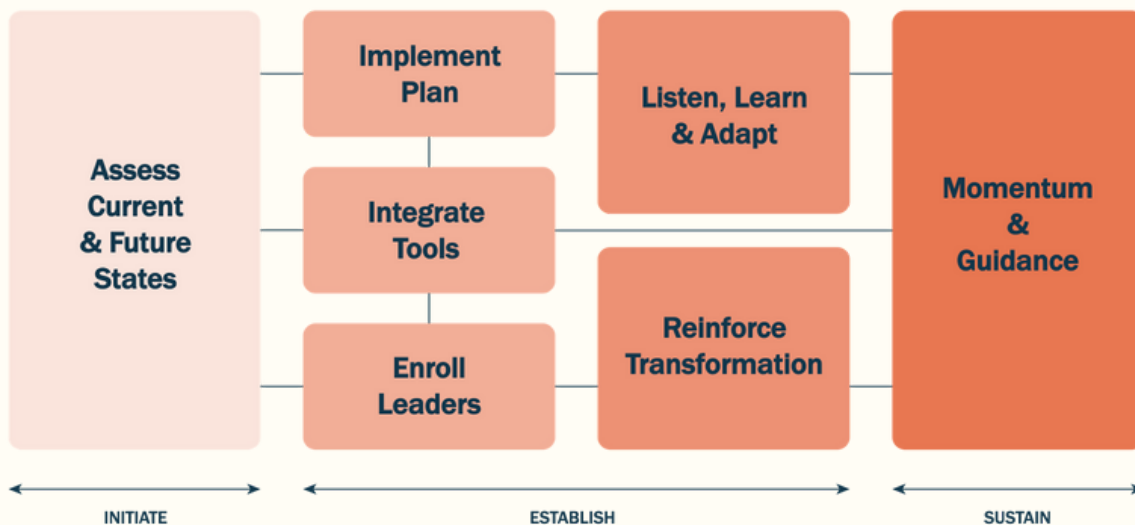

- Unconventional – One-size-fits-all templates aren't our style. Every business is different; rather than generic solutions, we approach every implementation through a creative lens.
- Innovative – We apply out-of-the-box thinking to every client, decreasing friction and increasing adoption.
- Practical – We transform intuitive, creative solutions into scalable components.

What we do

We partner with companies like you, to bolster your business capabilities through enablement, training and tools in order to build scalable systems. We equip you with custom and right-sized processes and tools in order to be able to implement foundational portfolio management into your organization.

We work with you to determine your current maturity and where you would like to be as an organization. We then develop a custom right-sized methodology for your organization and train your employees to inject capabilities into existing and new work efforts.

The SkyPhi Method

From implementation to integration.
